ANNUAL RED CROSS ROLL CALL

In dedication, we have set aside November 11th as sacred to those whose lives were sacrificed during the Great War.

With the War and the achievements of our American forces, is associated the great task performed by the universal organization of the American people—the American Red Cross.

Therefore, the day when the order "cease firing" rang along the Western Front, is a fitting day on which to begin the Annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross.

Armistice Day should recall vividly to the mind of all Americans the still-existing responsibility to the ex-service men. It should remind us that 26,000 boys are still suffering in hospitals, that men blinded by War are still being taught to be self-sufficient at the Red Cross Institute for the Blind at Evergreen, Md.; that in the Mountain Division, including the states of Utah, Colorado, Wyoming and New Mexico, there are 2500 men in hospitals who are receiving care and assistance from the Red Cross.

The work of the Home Service Sections of the American Red Cross increases from day to day and in addition, chapters are broadening their scope of work to meet the community needs and solve the problems of community welfare.

Is everyone in this community familiar with these facts? Unless our people are given information, it is fruitless to hope for intelligent interest and sympathetic support. It is not enough to get donations, large and small, in the name of the American Red Cross. We must aid—all of us—in keeping alive the Spirit of Service and Sacrifice which is the foundation of this mighty organization. We must build upon bed-rock if we would realize the fullest possibilities of the American Red Cross.

PROTECTION COSTS MONEY

Spending Capital to Save is a Government Requisite

If you don't shoot a little ahead of a fast flying duck you have no duck for dinner. If young trees are not protected and new ones planted to replace the felled trees there will be no timber in this country in a few years. It's looking ahead that counts in either case, and a great deal of the money loaned to the Government by citizens this year is being spent in protecting the future of this country's capital and resources.

Ten years ago there were 800 million acres of timber in the United States. Today there are only 200 million acres, and it is being cut down three times as fast as it was ten years ago. The forestry division of the Department of Agriculture is trying to avert a timber famine. The animal industry division of the same Department which employs about 4,400 people all over this country is protecting the herds and flocks—three of these employees discovered the hog cholera serum which saved the farmers of the United States about $40,000,000. The bureau of plant industry has saved us millions of dollars. The bureau of chemistry, soils, entomology, biological survey, markets and the bureau of public roads are all established to protect the capital of the country, and they have paid for themselves many times over in the protection they have given. But they cost money.

Although the money raised by war loans was largely spent in paying war bills, there must be funds raised from time to time either by taxation or by loans to carry on the work of protecting commerce industry and capital and the people of the United States may as well make up their minds that loaning money to their government is both a necessity and a privilege for a few years to come. Moreover, experienced financiers have shown their appreciation of that fact by exhibiting preference for government investments.

While the Government is looking ahead in the various departments and bureaus, now a necessity, the citizens who are lending money to the government are also looking ahead, for they know their principal and interest is more secure than if it were in the strong box of their bank. They are making their money work for them while it is working for their government. In building a fortune, as in shooting ducks, the most important thing is to look ahead.
